We offer a quick-start approach to high-paying, in-demand, sustainable careers in technology.

Start preparing for your career in computer and information technology at BridgeValley!

Prepare for your future with a degree in computer and information technology! BridgeValley offers a variety of computer/IT programs including Software Development, Web Design, Computer Management Information Systems, and many more.

Students will learn to work alone and in teams to analyze and solve complex problems and to evaluate solutions with a range of metrics. Our students become skilled in the core areas of computer science: theory, systems, programming languages, and algorithms. Graduates who obtain a degree in computer and information technology have the skills to embark upon technological careers in the computer industry!

Check out all of the Computer and Information Technology Programs that we offer here!