BridgeValley Community and Technical College Hosting Annual Halloween Family Night

Montgomery, WV - In keeping with its commitment to community, BridgeValley Community and Technical College is hosting its annual, free Halloween Family Night on Thursday, October 24.

Between 6 and 8 p.m. at BridgeValley's South Charleston campus at 2001 Union Carbide Drive, families can participate in a number of festive activities including a Trunk-or-Treat, carnival games with prizes, a haunted hallway and face painting.

"Family Night is a true family-friendly event where everyone can come out and enjoy the evening," said Coordinator of Student Engagement Sara Price. "Our goal is to provide a fun, exciting environment for our students and their families so they can celebrate Halloween in a safe space and focus on each other."

BridgeValley recognizes the difficulty students with children have attending college full-time. According to Price, the college created family night to make it easier for families to get out together and enjoy fall and to keep the college active in the community and offer opportunities for families.

This event is sponsored by BridgeValley's Office of Student Life. Children are encouraged to come dressed in costume and each person in attendance will receive tickets for free pizza and a non-alcoholic beverage.
